Humour

Ross Perot, an American Businessman and founder of EDS decided in 1963 that he would give a CHRISTMAS Gift to every American prisoner of war in Vietnam.

Accordingly thousands of parcels (28 tons) were wrapped and packed and a fleet of Boeing 707s was chartered to deliver them to Hanoi. A message from Govt. of Vietnam came: "No such gesture could be considered during the course of the bloody war", which was then at its height.

Perot argued The Vietnamese replied: that any charity was impossible while American B-52s were devastating Vietnamese villages.

No problem— Perot replied. We would hire an expert American Construction Company in order to rebuild anything the American Bombers had knocked down.

The puzzled Vietnamese became inscrutable and declined to continue the dialogue.

CHRISTMAS drew closer and the parcels remained undelivered.

Finally in despair, Perot took off in his chartered fleet and flew to Moscow where his aides posted the parcels one at a time at the Moscow Central Post Office and the Parcels were Delivered Intact.
